

Citizen in the Arts

Teresa Lopez started the Comanche County Youth Dancers 35 years ago. She started the youth dances as a substance abuse program.

Her goal was to keep her culture alive by dancing, singing and drumming. This was something she could give back to the community to educate and inform community members of Native heritage.